Guidelines for External and Internal Letters of Reference

The medical school promotion committees review letters from referees to solicit objective evaluations of the candidate’s work and impact. Candidates for promotion work with their division directors and Chairs to provide a list of external and internal referees, which the department sends to the medical school Office of Faculty Affairs (OFA). The OFA solicits and receives all referee letters. A candidate is not permitted to solicit a letter from a referee. No referees may be in the candidate’s own department.

Number of names required: The required number of internal (within Pitt) and external names (outside Pitt) varies as below.
